Friedland is a grower and shipper and handles the fruit direct from the Florida groves. He opened his store on Market street last year when similar questions regarding license were brought up in connection with his operations. The action this morning was strenuously out this year. $10,000 TO BE SPENT ON FAIR GROUND WORK

Dix is said to have elected the exile and the fact that he has been caught within the confines of the state means the most serious time. John Dix, another offender who was given a similar option elected to serve his time and did so.

SEVERAL RADIO LISTENERS PICK UP FAR POINTS

One Danville Man Believes He Heard Newcastle Broadcast on 400 Metres

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Trans-Atlantic broadcasting of words, singing and instrumental music so plain that the average amateur can pick it up is an accomplished fact today. Reports are pouring into the Garden City offices of Radio Broadcast the publication which fostered the project of a week of trans-Atlantic broadcasting, of success by amateurs in picking up programs last night from New Castle Bournemouth, Aberdeen and Madras.

Last night was the second night of the week's foreign broadcasting and marked the first wide spread success. Monday night scattered reports were received of partial success but not until last night had foreign programs been generally picked up with satisfaction. One amateur in Bronxville last night picked up a piano recital from Aberdeen so clearly that he was able to transmit the sounds emitting from his loud speaker to the Garden City laboratory by telephone.

Several radio amateurs in New Castle picked up the program for broadcasts from stations in the British Isles which were on the air last night from 11 until midnight in connection with the international broadcasting tests. While none could be found this morning who had actually identified a foreign station there is every reason to believe the radio sets in Danville actually receive the spoken word from Scotland, or stations in the north of England. It is also true however that quite a number of Danville listeners in picked up the broadcasting station in Mexico City which came through last night with unusual clarity and because of the foreign accent of the announcer were of the belief that they were hearing a prominent station. The French German, Dutch and Swiss radio stations however last night were supposed to be silent and yielding the air to the English stations.

Dr. C. W. Irvin related his radio experience last night and there is a well-defined belief that he, and perhaps others, heard the Newcastle station broadcast. Dr. Irvin admits that he has been on the air actually receiving the station he heard because at the end of the three different renditions of music the whistling noise set up by regenerative sets caused all sound to be cut off. Dr. Irvin has a five-tube neodymium set and at 11:20 o'clock last night he set his three dials on the 39 figure. This is where he invariably picks up the Louisville, Ky., station. He has been on that position a few seconds when sound waves came in and he amplified them effectively until the volume was clear and strong. First he heard a piano solo, then a violin and piano duet and finally a mandolin and piano number, the last being the best of the three. His dials were set for WHAS (Louisville), which according to announcements of the station radio listeners have been told they could be expected to hear in the Newcastle station. One puzzling feature of Dr. Irvin's experience, however, is that such a fragmentary announcement he could hear was in a foreign tongue and not intelligible. The physician seems to be certain that it was not English. He is equally certain that the station he heard was not Newcastle which station he has picked up before on a different dial position. The music last night caught by Dr. Irvin began at 11:20 and lasted until 11:40.

The KDKA station was of exceptional volume last night and many people found it difficult to tune in the broadcast on account of the fact that every owner of energy was behind the transmission in order that it might clearly reach Europe.

Body of Banker Discovered in Woods Murdered Near Cabin Occupied by Young Woman Employee—She Denies Any Knowledge of His Death.

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Nov. 26.—Miss Mary Watkins, young bank employee, approaching the witness stand at a coroner's inquest today, professed ignorance of the circumstances surrounding the death of her employer, Wm. R. Fee, Alhambra Bank president whose body was found yesterday in San Bernardino mountains near a mountain cabin maintained by her. Sheriff W. R. Shay believes the banker was murdered.

Mr. Fee had been missing since Saturday when he went to the mountains with his wife. He was last seen when he told her he was going to repair a radio aerial. She left the mountain place owned by a Los Angeles banker and occupied by the Fees. At her home in Alhambra, Miss Watkins told of her trip out to her mountain cabin Saturday and renewed her explanation of the finding of a suit of clothing identified as one worn by Mr. Fee by saying the garb had been given to her sometime ago by the banker. The body of Mr. Fee was found about five miles from the cabin occupied by Miss Watkins and a half mile from the cabin occupied by the Fees on Saturday. Miss Watkins said an affectionate note signed "Mary" found near the body of the banker was without significance. Autopsy surgeons reported they found a small skull fracture but no signs of a bullet wound. A sand-bag or black-jack, as might have been caused by a sand-bag or black-jack, was found near the body.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wycocna, Wisconsin. "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my mother recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."

—Mrs. J. G. GIBBS, Wycocna, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

Anglo-Saxon Club of Danville Has Been Formed Here

An interesting incident of the visit to this city of John Powell, piano virtuoso, scholar and scientist, was the organization at a meeting of a representative group of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce of the Anglo-Saxon Club of Danville, a local unit of the Anglo-Saxon Society of America, of which Mr. Powell has been an earnest and influential protagonist.

Just twelve persons were present at the initial meeting, and every one of these enrolled as a member of the club, thus forming the nucleus of an organization, which, as many are aware, has its fundamental aim and purpose the preservation of the integrity of the white or Anglo-Saxon race in America and in the world. Mr. Powell was the chief influence in the movement by the General Assembly of Virginia at its last preceding session of legislation designed to throw greater safeguards about the imperative problem, as so many studious and thoughtful men regard it, of preserving the integrity of the white race. The term, Anglo-Saxon, is used more as a synonym for white, than with any intent to limit the movement to the preservation of the racial integrity of persons of Anglo-Saxon stock.

Members of Club. The initial organization affected after a brilliant exposition of the aims and purposes of the society and the history of the club, as follows: Henry C. Leigh, president; Dr. R. B. James, vice president; Grady Crews, secretary. The other original members of the Anglo-Saxon Club of Danville are: Dr. A. Wiseman, W. R. Harrison, R. P. Moore, R. P. Pigeon, A. Booth, Frank Talbott, Samuel Sours, C. M. Riddle, Giles H. Miller, Jr.

Mr. Powell in presenting the theme made an illuminating historical review of the problem and drew the conclusion that the downfall of the empires of Rome, Greece and all the other great nations and empires of history has been due to the failure of the white race to preserve the integrity of the white race. The speaker quoted from a recently published volume by a Virginia scientist which treated the subject exhaustively and quoted many authorities of Europe and America, including Abraham Lincoln, the composite conclusion of all being that in its last analysis the problem of preserving racial integrity involves colonization or segregation of the negro race, with the alternative which this society is striving to avoid, amalgamation. Incidentally the speaker in his travels and his conversations with thoughtful men in all sections of the United States has found that keen interest exists in this problem and its essential solution among the people of the whole country. Scientists and writers are beginning to admit the lessons of history to the American situation with the purpose of forestalling and preventing the downfall of the American democracy and government by the only feasible method—the creation and development of a dominant public sentiment against miscegenation either under the quasi-authority of law or as it is illicitly introduced by the negro race, save in so far as the preservation of the racial integrity of the white population may be so regarded. The downfall of great civilizations of past centuries is demonstrated by a thoughtful study of history to be a sequence and a consequence of the impairment of racial integrity and the admixture of blood.

Interest in the problem was strikingly demonstrated after Mr. Powell's thoughtful presentation of the theme by the unanimity with which his entire group of hearers enrolled themselves as members of the Danville club. Such local units of the Anglo-Saxon Society of America are being formed all over the country among the thoughtful and educated classes of the people, who are being impelled more and more to study and research and the development of influence in the preservation of the white race, as to the ultimate aim, segregation, is recognized that the same selfish and mercenary influences which introduced African slavery into this country originally are arrayed in support of the continuance of the two races side by side.

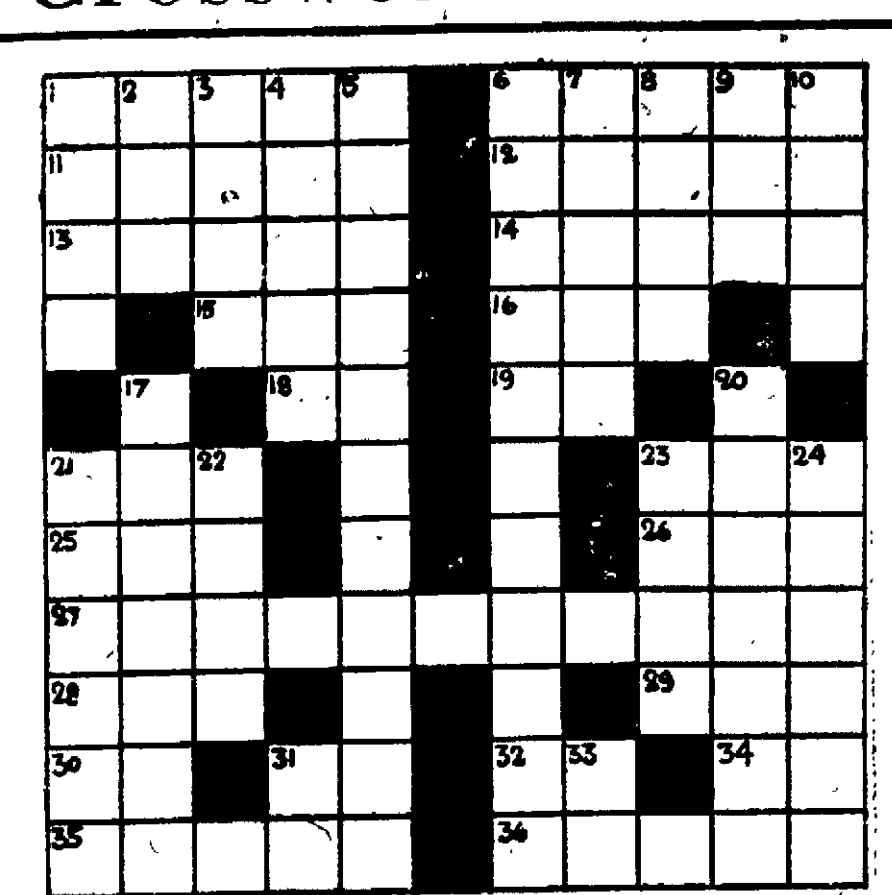

A volume treating this subject historically and published by Major Ernest Sevier Cox, of Richmond, Va., a veteran of the world war, is entitled "White America."

Chas. C. Shepherd Dies at Age of 70

Information was received in this city yesterday afternoon of the death of Charles C. Shepherd, for many years a resident of Danville, at his home near Green Pond church, Pittsylvania county, at 1 o'clock. The announcement was not unexpected to his friends and a large acquaintance, who knew of his critical illness. He was stricken with pneumonia nearly four weeks ago and at his age was unable to resist and recuperate from the strain on his constitution.

Mr. Shepherd was born in Pittsylvania county in 1854 and had spent his three score and ten years in this county and city. For twenty years he had made his home in Danville where he was engaged in the mercantile business as a partner in the formerly well known firm of Pollok & Shepherd. About twelve years ago through consideration of the health of his wife, Mr. Shepherd retired from that firm and removed to the Green Pond vicinity, westward of Chatham, where he had since resided. Mrs. Shepherd, his wife had been an invalid many years. As a resident of Danville, Mr. Shepherd was an active member of the Moffett Memorial Baptist church, but removed his church affiliation to the neighborhood Baptist church near his rural home. Mr. Shepherd was a man who all associated with him in business, enjoyed the confidence and esteem of church and social life and was a right Christian citizen and gentleman.

Survived by his wife, he also leaves a son and daughter—Dr. Elmer Shepherd and Mrs. James Alvis Jones, both of Washington, D. C. With the wife the father when he died. He has three brothers—W. B. Shepherd, of this city, deputy clerk of the Corporation court; Hon. H. D. Shepherd, of Pittsylvania county, a member of the House of Delegates; and J. H. Shepherd, of the Valley of Virginia.

The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon at the home conducted by the Rev. Mr. Keefe. Interment will be made in the Chatham cemetery.

SALVATION ARMY HAS CALLS FOR BEDDING, ETC.

Officials of the local Salvation Army state that this organization is almost constantly having calls for stoves, rugs, bedding of all kinds since the development of early winter weather. With the chill days the appeals for clothing are increasing. The slowing down and partial suspension of full-time operation by some of the larger local industries has developed a situation in which many families and individuals who formerly had sufficient for their needs now are in want of many of the things requisite to comfort. Most of these are behind in meeting their accounts, and otherwise in need, they face the severity of real winter.

The Salvation Army, whose workers come into contact with many of those needing the essentials of comfort, are ready and willing to respond to these calls as fast as the means at their command will permit; but they can find time and humane use for stoves, bedding and heavier clothing if these articles are supplied them by humane and charitably inclined people.

Telephone 352 will reach the Army workers.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Nellie Thornley, a girl of about 25, was charged in the Bow street police court yesterday with using insulting words and bad behavior outside of Buckingham and St. James palaces. The girl was evidently ill and under a great mental strain, and was remanded for a week for observation as to her sanity.

Police said she stood outside of Buckingham palace abusing royalty and shouting:

"Why should the king have all this luxury while decent, respectable girls walk about and starve."

When moved away she went to St. James palace and called for the Prince of Wales to come out so she could slap his face. The girl was well dressed and refined and said she was an American.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 50 cents.

HEALTHY THANKSGIVING TRADE REPORTED BY LOCAL MERCHANTS

Danville wholesale and retail merchants are having a healthy pre-Thanksgiving trade.

Prices are about what they were last year. Most of the good things that make a table groovy on this day of thanks are plentiful. The chief exception is sweet potatoes. Yams will not be so plentiful on the table or on as many tables as usual as a result of the serious shortage. Sweet potatoes were abundant last year.

As to prices, sweet potatoes are bringing $4.50 a barrel (three bushels to a barrel); cranberries are quoted at $5 a bushel; oranges (Florida) sell at $4.50 at the wholesale commission houses. Celery is quoted at $1.50 a dozen bunches. Lettuce can be had at the grocery store in any quantity. Turkeys are abundant. Farmers brought their birds in yesterday in large numbers and could be seen on most any down town street, quoting prices to passersby.

The robbers were being quoted from 30 to 35 cents a pound on foot. Without the feathers, 36 cents in some quarters, and dressed, 38 cents. Several merchants told a reporter they were doing fine business. Gardner & Clark, commission merchants of 230 Main street, said their volume of business was easily equal to last year's.

Oranges can be bought loose for about $7 a barrel if a buyer goes to the railroad yards and deals directly with the seller. He will have to transport the fruit himself.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS

"So much has been said against the use of patent remedies that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. It does not vomit or cause money refunded. J. C. McFall's Drug & Seed Store an druggists everywhere.—adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

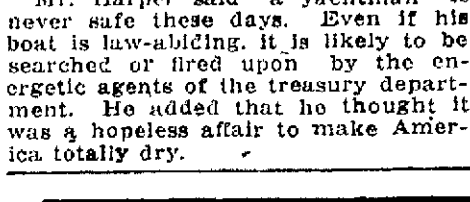

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

ASSERTS DRY LAWS HAS RUINED YACHTING

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Returning from Europe today on the liner Cambria, Hon. J. R. Harper, ex-governor of the state of New York, asserted that prohibition has ruined yachting; or at least taken away half of the sport of it—scotch and soda. Mr. Harper, once an enthusiastic yachtsman, said he did not expect to see yachting the sport it was in former years, due to the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Harper said a yachtsman is never safe these days. Even if his boat is law-abiding, it is likely to be searched or fired upon by the energetic agents of the treasury department. He added that he thought it was a hopeless affair to make America totally dry.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26.—With thirty-five separate meetings in progress during the day, many of them going on simultaneously in different buildings, the third day of the Virginia educational conference was featured by the first general session of the State Teachers' Association. Strange Bigamy Case Uncovered

(By Universal Service.)
CAMDEN, Nov. 26.—One of the strangest bigamy cases ever developed in a New Jersey court came to light yesterday with the arraignment of H. T. L. Morgan, 42 years old.

Morgan is alleged to have admitted to the authorities that he played the role of husband to Mrs. Francis E. McDonald Morgan, the wife of his twin brother, who was killed in France while touring the continent, and that he acted as father to his brother's two children without their knowing his real identity.

The disclosure was brought about by a woman who said that Morgan married her under the name of Robert J. Crofton, in Woodcrest. She became suspicious when he spent only five days each week with her. The rest of the week he stayed with his brother's family in Philadelphia, that they might not be shocked by knowledge of his death.

Both women faced Morgan in court today. Both are good looking women. Mrs. Morgan told the court she married Morgan last July, when she was living in Woodcrest. They made their home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Morgan insists that Morgan's story of having taken his brother's place is untrue, and that he is in reality John Morgan, the man she married and by whom she had two children.

Both women wept as they told their story.

Morgan was held in $2,000 bail, which he was unable to furnish so he was remanded to the county jail.

SAYS WIVES MUST ENTER INTO SPORTS

(By Universal Service.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—In order to hold the attention of their husbands, women these days must go in for sports, because every man is interested in some branch of outdoor exercise, says Mrs. Elsa Murray-Aynsley of England, who holds her barrister-husband even while in America on a singing tour.

"Wives simply must enter into the spirit of sports nowadays. I can best my husband on the golf links any old day. When he began to teach me, I told him that in time I would make him watch his own P's and Q's, and that time has already come."

He goes in strongly for fishing. So I accompany him on his excursions. I went at first just to keep him company; but soon I became as keen on the sport as he.

No married woman should attempt a career unless her husband is entirely in sympathy with it. Mrs. Murray-Aynsley is quite sure.

TWO MEN ARE BADLY BEATEN IN JAIL CELL

One, -a Washington News paperman, Not Expected to Live

(By The Associated Press.)
EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26.—Harry L. Rogers, newspaperman of Washington, D. C., was beaten into unconsciousness and his skull fractured by an iron bar while in a cell of the Juarez jail late yesterday. It is doubtful if he will live.

Another American, unconscious and unidentified, who was in the cell with Rogers was badly beaten but will recover.

A third American who gave the name of John Doble, is accused of wielding the iron bar in a rage.

Rogers came here yesterday to attend the American Federation of Labor convention, and to go to Mexico City to attend President-elect Calles' inauguration.

Mexican officials said Rogers had been first arrested and held in jail until morning. The judge, they said, warned him about getting intoxicated and released him. A few hours later police rearrested him.

JUDGE'S SIDE OF CASE NOW BEING HEARD

Defense in Case in Which Baker Is Charged With Misconduct, Heard

(By The Associated Press.)
PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 26.—A congressional sub-committee investigating charges of misconduct against Federal Judge Wm. A. Baker of the northern district of West Virginia turned its attention today to hearing the judge's side of the case. At three sessions yesterday the committee heard testimony against Judge Baker during which witnesses testified that he had appeared on the bench with the odor of liquor on his breath. They also gave testimony of the disappearance of confiscated liquor and other matters charged against Judge Baker.

By agreement before the hearing began upon charges which United States District Attorney T. A. Brown, of the same jurisdiction, seeks to have the House of Representatives initiate impeachment proceedings against Judge Baker, only a portion of the evidence is to be heard at present by the sub-committee.

THE ANTICIPATED BASEBALL MOVE

The transfer of the Danville Piedmont League baseball franchise to Salisbury, N. C., hardly comes as a surprise to lovers of the national game here. There had been omens and portents and inspired statements since the Danville owner sold the club and its holdings to Charlotte interests that Salisbury was slated for a berth in the organization, making it an all-Carolina circuit. The purchasers of the franchise from Herb Murphy at the time the deal was made, said that Danville would be given first consideration and that if assurances could be given that this community would support a baseball club it would be retained here. We know of no such assurances having been given the Charlotte men and the continued silence may have been a factor in turning to Salisbury which is known to have been eager for the franchise. It is difficult to arouse interest in baseball in the winter months. Football soon eclipses the sport of the diamond after the baseball season is over and enthusiasm is apt to hibernate until the early Spring when the dormant enthusiasm begins to rekindle its warmth. Had the purchasers of the Danville club felt like waiting for the new year there is little doubt that Danville would have been willing by that time to bestir itself and to take an active interest in the next playing season. There will be universal regret here that Danville is no longer associated with the League and that the compact circuit in which Danville has been represented and to which it has given fine support is now closed with this city on the outside. The situation so far as organized baseball is not hopeless. There is a chance for Danville to be included in the Virginia League where it rightly belongs with running gossip that there may be vacancies in the state circuit before the next playing season begins.

RECOGNIZING AMERICA CLAIMS

(New York Times.)
 The announcement of the French Minister of Finance that France has agreed to the inclusion of America's claims against Germany in the distribution of reparations under the Dawes plan should go far to eliminate any friction caused by America's demand for participation. In Europe it will doubtless arouse no little annoyance. But it affords recognition on the part of the official spokesmen of the nation expected to offer most opposition to America's claims, that America has a right in equity, if not in law, to share in the German annuities. It is more than probable that through this examination of the claims that the United States is legally entitled to share, despite the fact that she failed to ratify the treaty of Versailles. Among the clauses of that document accepted in the separate treaty with Germany are those referring to reparations and their distribution among the principal Allied and Associated Powers.

Although agreement about the American claims has still to be reached by the other allied nations, this solution is so logical that it may be called inevitable. America's claims against Germany arose from the same war as did those of the Allies. About half the sum demanded is for services rendered by the United States in the enforcement of the peace terms. Payments due us for the cost of the army of occupation were not collected when the Allies divided among themselves the money paid to them for such costs. Only after the armistice were our claims for the payment finally admitted by the Allies. It was then agreed that the sum due us should be divided into annual installments of about $12,000,000 each, and should have priority over all reparations payments. But in order to insure the success of the London Conference and to allow the service of the German loan to have priority over all other claims on that country, the United States waived the right to priority, with the expectation that a conference would be held to agree upon a reamortization of all claims against Germany to be

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Through the Shadow

Like a lace veil of woven black I see the fringe of trees that stretch across my study windows in front of me.

Colors, that seem almost perfumed, are melting into the gray of the drowsy day.

Waving to and fro are the stripped and delicate reachings of limbs that have held the recently fallen leaves. I thought back to the early mornings and late evenings of spring and summer when these same trees were sprinkled with dew or rain, and sparkled like polished jewels.

I thought how akin to Nature is every movement and thought of life.

We see beauty through the shadows—then the night comes on and all is dark. Nothing but the memories of beauty remain. But there is nourishment for the soul in beauty, in sweetened memories, in the pictured events of all the natural movement of the out-of-doors.

Morning with its sunlight and hope, noon with its warmth and promise of fulfillment, evening with its sunset and peace—then the shadows and the dark.

Sometimes it does seem as though the shadows and the dark last too long. But there is always the promise of the morrow!

Then life starts all over again. We are nothing very much as each day would measure us, but from the sun of the days we are what we are!

And often through the shadows we are molded and measured most.

THE REFEREE

By Albert Apple

LIFE
 A board of $4,000 is discovered in the novel of a hermit who died recently near Frostburg, Md. This attracts attention, for people consider hoarders "queer."

If he had invested his $4,000 in an auto that he couldn't really afford, he would have been accepted as normal.

"DRUGS"
 The use of medicine is on the wane. But this doesn't worry the country's 49,000 druggists. For the old-time drugstore has evolved into a "general store" with a bewildering line of ice cream, quick lunches, mah jongg, electric toasters, toys, etc.

These 49,000 stores do a total business of $900 million dollars a year, or an average of about $16,300 apiece.

BABIES
 Two-year-old Mary Schaefer, prize-winner of New York City's "perfect baby" contest a year ago, dies from eating bread buttered with cockroach poison under a refrigerator.

This is not unusual. Nor is it exceptional for babies to be electrocuted by sticking their fingers into "door plugs" which furnish vacuum cleaner and other current. If you have a baby, play safe by keeping plugs tightly screwed in these sockets.

EXPANDING
 Expecting a trade boom, corporations are raising money for expansion. In October 438 million dollars' worth of new stocks, bonds and notes were issued. This compares with only 266 millions in October, 1923.

The money raised by the sale of these securities means more jobs.

KILLER
 A great many babies have had their lives snuffed out lately in an unexpected way. Nearly every mother uses stearate of zinc as a baby powder. Keep the can out of baby's reach. And handle the powder carefully. If this powder gets into a baby's lungs, it is extremely dangerous. Among other things, it can cause pneumonia and strangulation.

SAFER
 A deadly poison is carbon-monoxide, generated by the explosion of gasoline and the use of the motor car exhaust. If you run your auto engine several minutes in a garage with closed doors, you endanger your life. Thousands die this way every year.

Emil Chulapka, New Yorker, claims he has a chemical process that eliminates this poison gas from exhaust. He demonstrates to physicians, remaining 15 minutes in a closed garage with his motor running without injury.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOW THIEFT
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—An increase from $11,807,000 to $20,435,000 in school savings bank balances took place during the year ended June 30, 1924, according to a report issued by the Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association. The report states that the collections increased from $10,632,000 to $14,991,500 in the same period, while the number of pupils participating in school savings grew from 1,907,551 to 2,238,325.

CHECK ON LONGITUDES
 Notice of variations in longitudes of the globe has caused world scientists to find some way of checking up on the earth's surface. Radio is being called upon to help in this extremely delicate study.

AMERICANS READY TO DEVELOP WATERPOWER IN BULGARIA
 SOFIA, Bulgaria.—A New York engineering concern has made two important local development proposals to the Bulgarian government. One is to provide Sofia with a plentiful and constant supply of water, and the other to apply American irrigation methods to the fertile but dry plains of Tator-Pazdriki.

The plans submitted have met with approval, but there is some question as to the financial guarantees.

Comparisons

My golf is not so very good.
 My bank account is always low.
 My motor car is a real head.
 I don't wear silk underwear.
 I don't wear costly tailor-made clothes.
 I don't have one extra pair.
 And yet I am not a miser.
 And yet I am not a miser.
 And yet I am not a miser.

At prices I could never pay:
 Comparisons are relative.
 When everything is said and done
 I am a better man than I live.
 I set my share of honest fun.

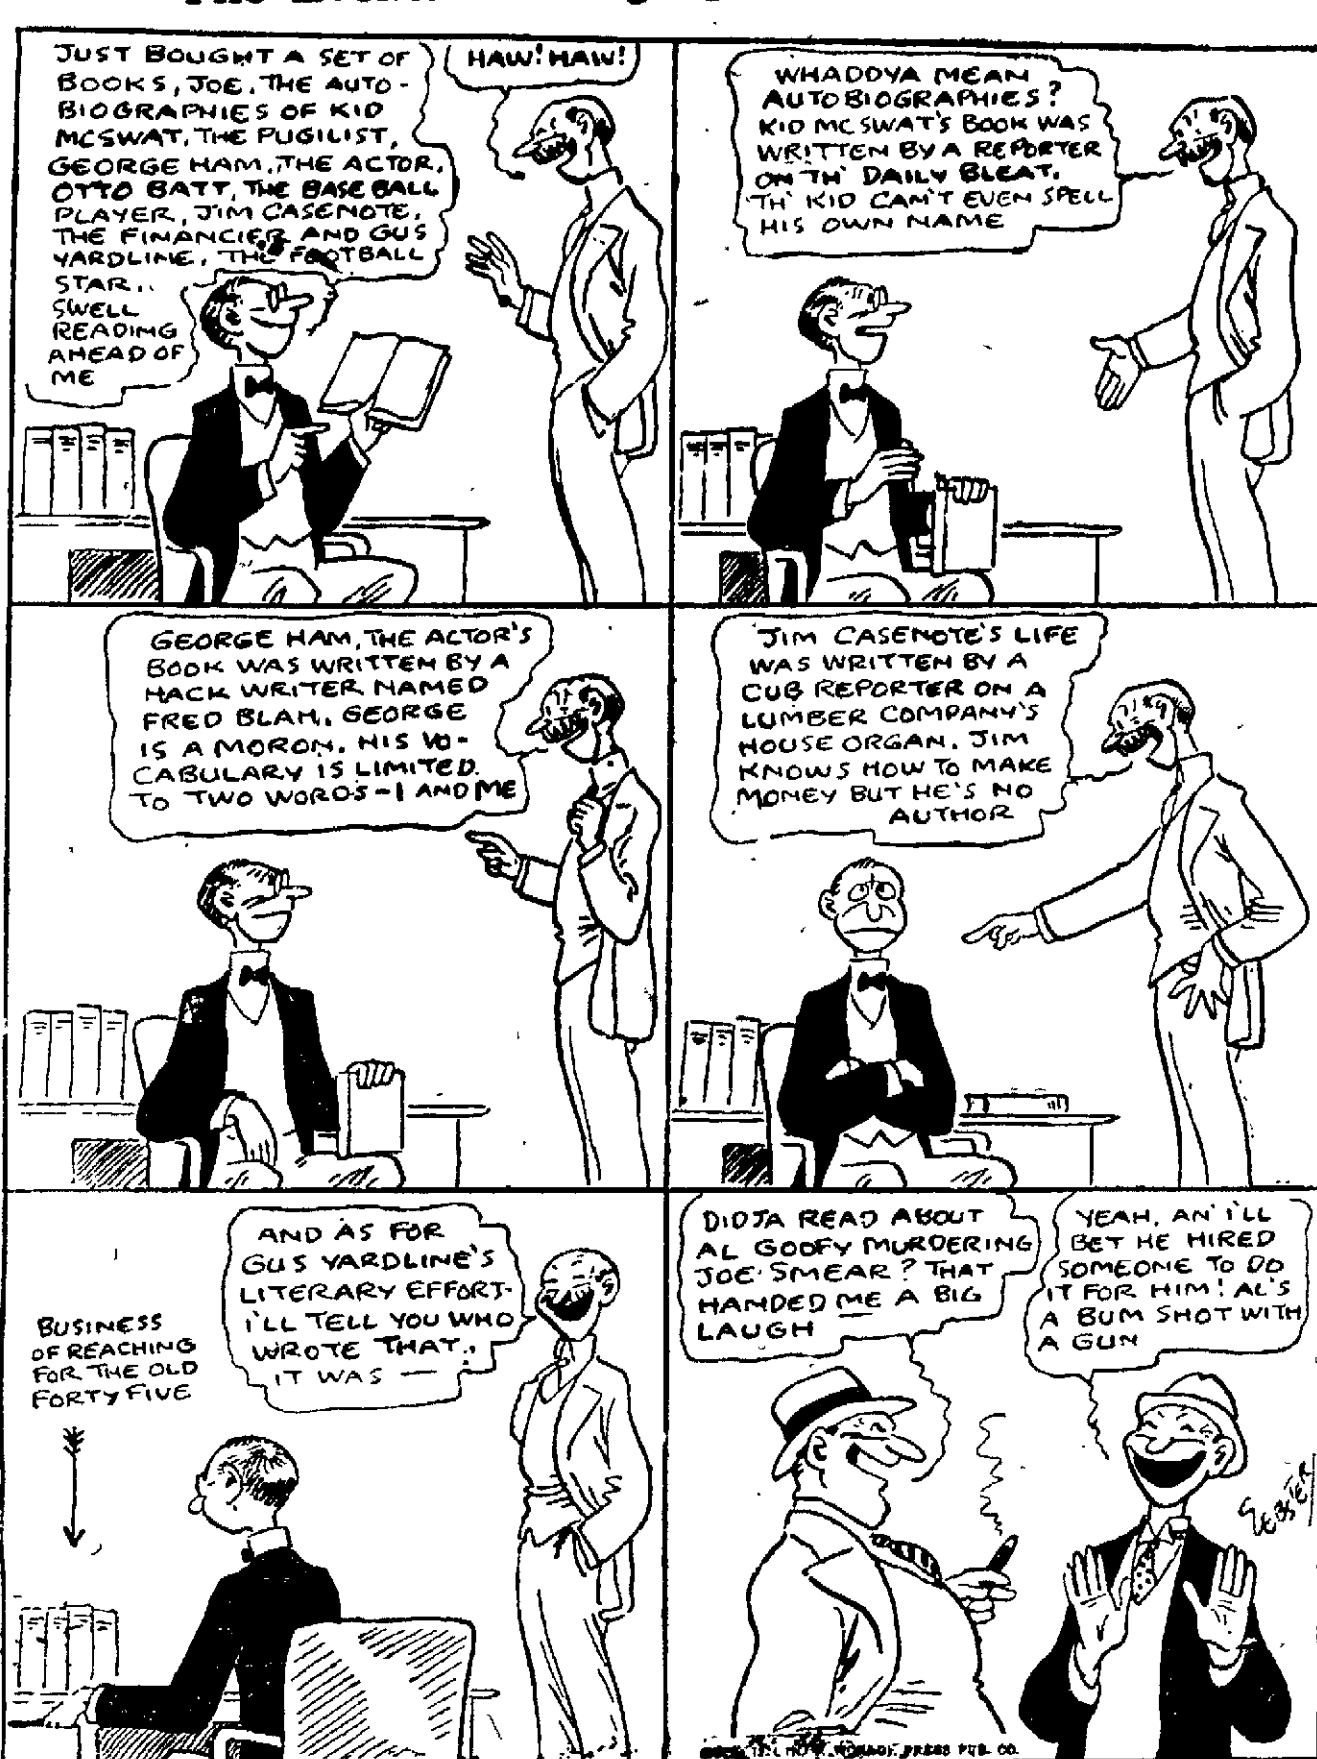

My friends are neither rich nor great.
 But I am fond of them, and they are fond of me. I dare to state.
 What more can pomp and fortune say?

We share each others' joys and woes.
 We laugh and sing when skies are blue.
 We're all the charms true friendship knows.
 What more can richer friendships do?

So day by day and year by year
 I wake to greet the morning sun.
 Eat, tell and share life's beauty here.

The Events Leading up to the Tragedy

II—THE YELLOW BAND

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 When Corrigan, stalwart proprietor of the Orang-Puteh estate in Borneo visits the bungalow of his neighbor, Jacobson, he finds a native girl rolling cigarettes that have a faint yellow band at one end.

On the island a man who styles himself "Zariman the Terrible" has worked up the native tribes in to a fanatical frenzy against the white settlers. Browning, friend of Corrigan's, is found murdered, with evidence that he was dragged before he met death. Now Fellowes and White, two of Corrigan's assistants, are seated in Corrigan's bungalow, waiting for the native "boss" to arrive. "Brownie" swears Corrigan. Night falls. A bay comes in and lights a swinging lamp and rolls up the sun blinds.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Suddenly something hissed through the space the curtains had left and stuck in the wall behind White. Fellowes stepped across and pulled it from the woodwork with an effort.

White sprang to his feet and all three stood, their heads almost touching. The deadly dart puffed from the tube of the summation. Secured to the shaft by a thin thong a twisted leather was a strip of yellow, hissing and on it, in crimson letters: ZARIMAN.

"Something in the nature of a warning," said Fellowes slowly. "Browning had one of these," put in Corrigan thoughtfully.

"Well," started. "He got the warning—and yet—"

"And yet," said Corrigan, "old hunter that he was, they caught him napping." He threw back his head and looked at the other. "Doesn't that set you wondering? Would that damned fanatic distribute his grim warnings, would Browning, fallen in the whole trap Zariman had prepared for him unless—"

White stared into the blackness beyond the rail, striving to find daylight beyond the gloom. He felt as if he were groping with sightless eyes in a fatigues house.

"Unless," continued Corrigan, "the dope was administered in a manner so cunning that he had no suspicion, unless the man who handled it was one whom he had not the slightest cause to fear."

"His orderly, perhaps?" said White, frowning at the cold color of his head.

"I fancy not," he replied. "I firmly believe every man he had round him was spirited away in some mysterious manner before Zariman's gang started their gruesome work."

"What are we going to do about it?" he asked.

"A little more of the Corrigan touch, old man. We are not going to sit down until they choose to launch their attack. That's not my idea. Barring about three of the watchmen, who appear to have forgotten their religious beliefs, there's nothing to fear. If Zariman's fellow I take him for, he'll leave precious little to chance. We're going to initiate a surprise attack, and endeavor to anticipate his zero hour work."

Jacobson looked up from a pedestal table in the ornate room. He had some tropical creature in his hand, and he stared at the mosquito curtain stretched over the window frame. Presently he rose slowly to his feet.

SUDDENLY SOMETHING MISSED THROUGH THE CURTAINS.

"Oh! nothing," Corrigan assured him gently. "Won't you sit down? Perhaps that fall you had from your horse—"

Jacobson bit. He banged himself into a chair opposite his visitor, his upper lip drawn back over gold-filled teeth.

"I want to warn you, Mr. Corrigan," he snarled. "I'm a man with very little patience. If you've any preposition to offer me, go ahead with it—and I'll listen. I don't mind reminding you that you have chosen an absurdly awkward time to ask to dinner, you'll understand."

"Precisely," Corrigan jerked out between his teeth. "There are some people I don't care to sit down with. However," he smiled innocently into Jacobson's face, we aren't getting much farther, are we? Mr. Jacobson, I just came in to have a friendly talk—and smoke the pipe of peace with you, and all that sort of thing."

DRAKES BRANCH. Nov. 25.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—It won't be long now, as they say in the movies: Oh, the turk hath ceased to gobble, an' the duck no more a quack, an' the chicken coop is shy a corned hen, an' the pumpkins fat an' yellow, are no longer in the cellar, an' the pigs actin' anxious in the pen. Oh, no more doth spinning spider weave upon the juk o' cider, an' the apple-bin is empty o' its store: there are scents o' sweet vanilla, on the air, to tempt a fellow, an' o' cinnamon, an' lemon, an' some more!

There are odors from the kitchen. Tantalizin' an' bewitchin', that jest set your palate itchin', all the day; an' the kitchen range is goin' 'till the lids are fairly glowing, an' Ma vows that everybody's in her way!

There are cakes, with fancy fakin' pies an' puddin', in the makin', an' the smell o' bread a-bakin, in the air; Aunt Amanda's beatin' batter, there are sounds o' spoon on platter, an' a radio an' a clatterin' for fair!

On the freezer, frost is gleamin', an' the ice-cream is creamin', an' I'm sittin' here a-dreamin', as I crank an' the good Lord I am thankful, for Thanksgiving, as I'm crankin' an' I'm thankful I am here, the Lord to thank!

Yuh cannot always generally tell which way a mule is going to kick, so 'tis well to keep a safe distance when he gets ready to do the trick.

With so many country people moving to town and deserting the farms the problem of parking space will eventually solve itself. Thus we progress!

Life is earnest, life is drear and how can we get the Christmas cheer, in this staph called near-beer?

Uncle Pildoozer Says:
 Wogmen are like automobiles—it takes a lot of money to run one, the faster they are the faster money it takes, they're faster when warmed up. A little paint does a lot for both. The heavy slow ones are used for work, not speed. They need a guiding hand. Each year the new models are faster and snappier. It took more ornaments, and more of them, to look cheap. If run too fast they are liable to burn up.

He Wanted It Read.
 An editor and a merchant were discussing the virtue of billboard advertising. The merchant contended that more people read the billboard than the newspapers. After a lengthy conversation in which neither man would give in, the men parted.

The next week the merchant came tearing down the street to the newspaper office wanting to know why the obituary of his wife's mother was not in the paper, especially after he had seen that a copy was taken to the newspaper office. "Well," said the editor, "I know you wanted the obituary read by the people so I took it out and yailed it up on your billboard."

Why She Came Back.
 Mrs. Perkins had gone away from home leaving Mr. Perkins lamenting. On arriving at her destination she missed her gold brooch and sent a postcard to her maid, asking the girl to let her know if she found anything on the floor in the dining-room when sweeping it the next morning.

The maid duly replied: "Dear Madam—You asked me to let you know if I found anything, when sweeping the dining room floor this morning. Yes, mam, I found fifty matches, three cork-screws, a dozen corks, and a pack of cards."

Mrs. Perkins, informed by the next train.—Fred C. Betts.

NEWSPAPER

DANVILLE NO LONGER IN PIEDMONT LEAGUE, LOCAL CLUB GOING TO SALISBURY

A press telegram from Greensboro, N. C., last night conveyed the announcement of the transfer of the Danville franchise in the Piedmont League of Professional Baseball Clubs to Salisbury, N. C., thus making the first break in the original circuit of that six-club league of which Hon. William G. Bramham, of Durham, N. C., is president. Organized in 1920, the Piedmont League has been continuously made up of the Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, High Point and Winston-Salem, N. C., clubs and the Danville, Va. club. In the first year the Danville club was managed by James Russell Moore. Subsequently it underwent changes of management—Herb Murphy, P. R. Hatcher, Tommy Abbott, J. M. Davis and in 1923 and 1924 by Herb Murphy, who piloted the team to a pennant in 1923, winning the second half of the split-season and defeating Greensboro in the play-off series for the pennant. In the 1924 season he again managed and was the actual owner of the club, but he had lost much of his star material of his pennant-winning season and he had to face a trying situation consequently upon industrial depression and its effort in slowing down all lines of local business. He lost money, on his final season here and had little salable material from which he might recoup his losses. Unable to find a local purchaser or one who would share the financial responsibility, he concluded to quit and did so. Salisbury, N. C., it will be recalled, was a member of the old Virginia-Carolina league about 1904-05, of which Danville was a pennant contender almost every year from about 1906 or 1907 until 1913, winning a pennant in 1912 under the management of Steve Griffin at old West End park. The city was without professional baseball for about seven years when the present Piedmont League was formed in the early months of 1920, notes Dr. J. E. Taylor, president and enthusiastic promoter of the local club and of the league. Rumors have floated in from time to time that Raleigh wanted a berth in the present Virginia League, that High Point might drop out and various others; but it appears that Danville is the first city to give up its franchise, thus leaving the organization an all-North Carolina circuit. Under the changed make-up the Piedmont will probably be even more compact than formerly, with Greensboro as the center about which the other five cities are grouped. The Danville club did not own a park here, having effected an arrangement with the School Board for the improvement of acreage attached to the Stonewall Jackson school and its use as a playing field. The club owners, however, expended a considerable sum in grading the park, erecting a grandstand, which remains today as a heritage to the city.

SOUTHERN FOOTBALL CARD THURSDAY IS INTERESTING

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—With the best saved for last in many cases on the southern football card, Thanksgiving brings contests that are elevated from the category of games to the class of institutions. Many annual games played Thursday are so long established that the mind of the football fan runs back to the contrary in this generation at least.

This year the curtain goes down in the southern conference in a greater blaze of glory than ever before in the game at Birmingham, Ala., between Georgia and Alabama, the mythical championship may be decided. Georgia goes into the game with a record of five conference victories, unmarked by defeats or draws, while Alabama has won four conference games and one tie.

Each team has lost one game outside the conference. Georgia at Yale 7 to 0, and Alabama at Centre, 17 to 0. Only two other conference teams are undefeated and but one of these has a chance to acquire five victories.

Three conference teams will not be able to pack up the balls after the Thanksgiving tiffs. Georgia will leave Birmingham for Danville, Ky., to play Centre Saturday and Washington and Lee is booked for an engagement with Florida in Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 6. The Generals and Alligators are undefeated. Washington and Lee boasting three victories and a tie and Florida's standing showing a victory and tie. Washington and Lee plays North Carolina State in Raleigh Thursday while Florida's opponent comes from the Missouri valley conference, making the long jump the Moines to Gainesville for the day.

Tennessee and Kentucky meet in Knoxville, and Tulane and Louisiana State University are engaged at Baton Rouge. Wake Forest, champion of North Carolina, plays South Carolina in Columbia. The Game Coaches, having a high rating in the vexed palmetto state football situation which may be further complicated by the game between Clemson and Furman at Clemson, Other South Carolina games include Newberry vs. Wofford at Spartanburg and Presbyterian College vs. Citadel at Charleston.

An inter-sectional game marking the day's play and making the situation all even between southern teams playing far from home and the reverse, is that between Lombard College of Illinois and the Tennessee Meds at Memphis.

Cyclone, conqueror of Mercer, goes to Chattanooga to play the Chattanooga Moccasins and the Mississippi College Choctaws meet the Mercer Bears at Macon.

Two conference teams plays non-conference eleven are Maryland vs. Johns Hopkins at Baltimore and the University of Mississippi against Mississippi at Jackson.

The NUT Cracker

By JOE WILLIAMS

While the knockout of Fred Fulton may have been suspicious, it would have been even more suspicious if he hadn't been knocked out.

The suggestion that Fulton had to be bribed to lose is the first complaint we ever heard tendered the plasterer.

The difference between Annette Kellerman and Mr. Fulton is that the gentleman doesn't need a tank to dive in.

Apologies of the economic tendency of the race, Mr. O'Grady begs to observe that you never hear of anybody holding a benefit for a Scotchman.

Mickey Walker offered to reduce his guarantee from $3500 to $2500. This matter has been referred to the proper authorities and a lunacy investigation is promised.

Coach Fisher of Harvard is to be canned because he had a losing team. This is further proof that football is played merely for the beautiful spirit of the sport.

Having won the featherweight championship of Europe, Mons Edouard Mascart is now qualified to challenge any American preliminary fighter.

If Walter Johnson, in his role as magnate, gives no more passes than he did as a pitcher, the Oakland dead-headers will be all out of luck.

Connie Mack has just signed a 10-second man. . . . This may mean he won't last longer than 10 seconds.

Slow motion pictures have become a necessity. . . . Without them it would never be possible to photograph fellows like Fulton in an upright position.

The fight between Tom Gibbons and Kid Norfolk has been approved. It will prove, among other things, that suspenders are better than stamps for keeping trousers at the desired waist height.

EVEN BREATHING HELPED JONES TO WIN

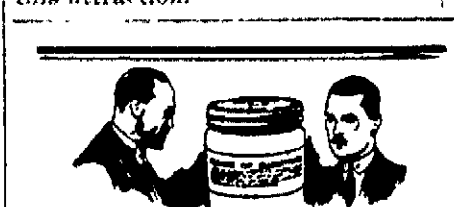

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—"Wait till you get your breath," That's Bobby Jones' advice to would-be champions. Jones waited until he got his breath at Merion this year and it helped him win the amateur golf championship for the first time. A long walk to the putting green following a vigorous full shot is likely to leave one breathing pretty hard. It was Jones' practice to pause and wait until he was breathing normally, then he would putt. Jones' putting was uniformly fine throughout the tournament, and the champion of champions feel sure normal breathing had much to do with it.

"Vanity Box" Carries A Large Company

George E. Wint's latest musical comedy production, "Vanity Box," will be the special attraction at the Majestic Theatre Friday, November 26th.

"Vanity Box" comes with the assurance, that it will be one of the most unique entertainments seen here in many a day. The company carries some fifty odd people, among them the French comedienne Milti Sessie, singer and mimic—the Ritz!

Milti girl—and the famous fun maker, Hal Kitter, also the famous jazz orchestra, "The Pennsylvania Twelve," who are under exclusive contract with this attraction.

Don't wait for time to heal that itching rash

NEGLECT of even the slightest skin rash, roughness, chafing or soreness may have serious consequences. Painful, disfiguring complaints like eczema, ringworm, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Resinol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.

Resinol Soap is a favorite with thousands who like its generous lather, so refreshing and cleansing. At all druggists.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

-and No Place to Go!

We drive or ride in 16,000,000 motor vehicles.

We pack the paved highways coming in and out of town. We over-run even so-called remote regions. And we are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Next year 4,000,000 new cars will be on the road. Compared to this increase, the mileage of new permanent roads will be insignificant.

The answer is, build more, and where necessary, wider concrete roads—and start building them now.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support.

OSSENING, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Visions of a succulent Thanksgiving dinner in their homes were dispelled for Charles White and Louis Morelli, Sing Sing prison convicts, who were arrested as they stepped from the prison gates today. GERMANY WANTS RADIO FANS

BERLIN.—To get distrustful German villagers acquainted with the novelty of radio entertainment, and to induce them to buy sets of their own, the postal authorities contemplate the temporary installation of loudspeaker sets in the social halls or inns of every German village, free of charge. Besides entertaining news of the day and market reports of special interest for farmers will be broadcast.

Chiropractic And Operations

QUESTION—"Your patients tell me you claim operations are unnecessary. I have been told that my Gall Bladder must be removed, for I Gall Stones. Please explain."

ANSWER—"All operations are for EFFECTS, and a large number of them are absolutely unnecessary. Chiropractic Adjustments will not only prevent them but do more. Where operations TEMPORARILY RELIEVE THE EFFECTS OF disease, Adjustments PERMANENTLY ELIMINATE THE CAUSE by correcting the pressure on the spinal nerves which carry functional energy to the organ involved. Fear this in mind, and before you submit to an operation, go to a competent Chiropractor and have a thorough Spinal Analysis made to disclose the real cause of your trouble. This will save you no harm, and it may save you the suffering and expense of an operation, and even nothing of the after effects of the operation, such as adhesions. If your Chiropractor tells you you can get well without an operation, place yourself unreservedly in his care. By all means."

WOULD PROTECT A SWINDLER'S MOTHER

(By Chicago Tribune Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Relations of Leo Koretz, arch swindler, have entered a conspiracy to keep the news of his arrest from his aged mother, who has been ill since he fled. Last week she said to an intimate friend that she prayed every night that he would not be captured while she was alive.

When Koretz is returned to Chicago, the work of untangling the scramble of claims and charges against him will be undertaken. First will come the State charge of embezzlement, upon which the prosecutor expects to send him to prison. There also are indictments against him for confidence games and obtaining money under false pretenses. Attorneys say there should be little difficulty in securing conviction on these charges.

Meanwhile his wife, who surrendered her automobiles, jewels and other property to the creditors, is earning a living for herself and their two children by office work. For a time she peddled coal in baskets. A young woman with whom Koretz lived in magnificent style in the heyday of his operations, has been traced to India, where she is penniless. Koretz deserted her when he fled.

BLAMES LOVE TROUBLES ON A VACUUM CLEANER (By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A vacuum cleaner was the bottom of all the trouble. So Mrs. Edna Schwed, swore today in the divorce suit brought against her by Herman S. Schwed, insurance broker, who named Frank H. Van Duzer, sporting goods and furniture dealer of Port Richmond, N. Y.

Van Duzer sold her husband the vacuum cleaner. Mrs. Schwed said, and had to call at the house a number of times to show Schwed how to operate it. Later, she admitted, she became Van Duzer's housekeeper, under her maiden name of Edna Walker, but denied any improper relations. She also denied she had ever called him "darling daddy," as had been testified.

INSULTED?

"Take those darn things off or I'll put you in jail!" That's what Chief of Police J. M. Youngwood of Rock Hill, S. C., told Miss Willie Trammell, 22-year-old stenographer, when she appeared on the streets in a "blue knicker suit." At least that's the story she told the city council, filing $10,000 suit against the officer on the ground he insulted her.

Everyman's Investments

By George T. Hughes

A form of financial organization about which too little is known is the Credit Union. In a way the Credit Union is analogous to the building and loan association. Both of these institutions are primarily designed to help those of small capital, or someone not capital at all. The building loan makes it possible for the wage earner to borrow money to build a home and to pay off the loan in small installments out of savings from his wages or salary. The credit union enables the wage earner the small salaried man or the farmer with very limited capital to borrow money for various purposes when without the union he would be unable to borrow at all or only at ruinous rates.

The credit union is comparatively a new thing in the United States. It originated on the other side. The various states have different laws governing the formation of these unions but the general principles are the same. Massachusetts and North Carolina were among the pioneers in the movement. In a general way credit union has been defined as a "co-operative association whose objects are (1) to promote thrift among its members and (2) to provide its members with credit facilities." Another authority has called a credit union "a bank in miniature." In every case the union operates under state authority and supervision and conforms to certain general regulations prescribed by the state authorities. It mobilizes the savings of its members, savings so small individually as to appear hardly worth while and makes loans so small as to fall without the province of the commercial bank.

Credit unions are organized for the most part by a particular group, either engaged in the same line of industry or living in the same neighborhood. In Massachusetts and in the industrial states of the north the credit unions are generally employees of corporations. In North Carolina and in the agricultural states of the south and the west they are small farmers. At first thought it would seem that this business of making small loans on individual credit involved a good deal of risk, but the records show that the results compare very favorably with those of the building and loan and that is high praise.

TAKES NOTICE OF 'SOS' CALLS FOR GIRL-DANCER

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Broadway began to notice today the S-O-S calls from Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, called out by friends of Meta Van Hedenkamp, a 17-year-old dancer, whose fight for life has attracted surgeons at the hospital and has led them to believe the girl has a chance for recovery, despite complete paralysis due to a dive into a stage fountain September 2.

Mrs. Nellie Revelle, who fought her way back to health after years of helpless invalidism, said she had received an anonymous contribution of $100 for the aid of the girl dancer. At the same time, the actors fund began an investigation, and Nora Bayes, who last week visited Miss Hedenkamp, left with her mother a little material aid from the Keith players.

Meanwhile, Flo Ziegfeld has wired to the girl's mother, offering the services of an eminent specialist, and it is known that the 17-year-old girl will not have to carry on her splendid fight unaided, or forgotten by the people she loves.

MORNING COTTON LETTER

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—After standing up under heavy pressure was withdrawn yesterday and cotton after showing well in heavy seas, gradually sank when the ship was apparently at anchor.

We think we see lower prices and do not think sales should be delayed.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The results of the presidential election have been what we had hoped and expected they would be. The demand for steel products is large and increasing. It promises to be wholly up-to-date and perhaps in excess of manufacturing capacity. The prices have been too low. It is hoped that they will soon be high enough to allow all of the producers some of the profits.

The above are not taken from any arguments of the stock market. They are the words of Judge Gary, a man who knows his subject and his published statements are invariably verified by subsequent developments.

Is it any wonder that stocks that have been bought recently do not show up in the brokers' loans. What has become of them? They are in strong boxes. Therefore, with bullish conditions in business and bullish conditions in the stock market, how can you escape a further rise. Buy them.

HERE'S REAL DRAMA

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—"Ah, hab, me proud beauty," at last I have you in my grip—said the villain in a three-act melodrama at the Dai-ko Theatre. "Here, that's enough of that!" warned Shigezo Todoroki, a carpenter, from his box. When the villain proceeded to molest the beautiful heroine, Todoroki reaped upon him and police had to be called to quell the disturbance.
